Dear Readers,

It is my pleasure to be writing the welcome message in this year's E-Magazine. The Bengali Kids of Princeton Area (BKPA) has come a long way since it was first conceptualized in the early 2000s. I still vividly remember sitting at my family's kitchen table talking to my parents about my frustration that my school friends of other cultural backgrounds had organizations and venues to learn about their unique heritage, but I did not. My information came from my parents and both sets of grandparents at home, and while they taught me a plethora of information regarding our Bengali culture, I felt restricted that I could not share a part of myself outside our home.

When we first started this organization, I did not believe that BKPA would amount to much besides a club which held five events a year and taught Bangla informally on weekends. That belief seems foolish now, as our organization has made an astounding name for itself not only in the tri-state area but internationally as well. I would be remiss if I did not thank all the members and families who have been involved with BKPA since its conception – their hard work, ambition, and dedication is what has made a child's dream into a 501c3 non-profit organization and much, much more. I will not list all of BKPA's community service work, achievements, recognition, etc. in this short letter, but you can easily find this information on our website (www.bkpa.org).

I apologize for missing our second annual Kali Puja, as I am currently writing this letter from Uganda (where I am conducting my Master's degree research work). It was very hard for me to be away from my family and friends this Durga Puja. However, I spent this past summer in Kolkata, India participating in the U.S. State Department's Critical Language Program for Bangla. It was a two-month intensive language learning program, which also allowed its participants to explore West Bengal. During this time, I visited Kumartuli, where the Kali Thakur statue you see before you was being made by Mr. Sunil Paul, a recipient of the Presidential Medal for his magnificent work. I cannot stress how unique BKPA is, an organization for the kids and run by the kids to learn about the Bengali heritage and culture. Mr. Sunil Paul was overjoyed that such an organization exists outside of Bengal, and in the United States no less. He shook my hand and told me to make sure that BKPA continues to thrive. And the reality is, every time I mentioned BKPA in Kolkata this summer, I was met with awestruck expressions of wonder and curiosity, followed by many questions for more details about BKPA.

Therefore, this letter is not just a welcome message for this year's magazine. This letter is a thank you letter from me, personally, to everyone who has been involved with The Bengali Kids of Princeton Area since it was conceptualized at that kitchen table almost 15 years ago. I am humbled as I remember all the people, past and present, who believed in this organization and put in the time to make it something inspiring. Let us move forward in the future remembering that our Bengali language, culture, and heritage are aspects of ourselves that we should always take pride in and never keep hidden.

Sincerely,

Anita Dam

MESSAGE

I am delighted to know that The Bengali Kids of Princeton Area (BKPA) is organizing Kali Puja & Diwali celebration on Saturday, October 21, 2017 in Somerset, New Jersey. I am also happy to know that BKPA is bringing out a magazine to mark the celebrations.

I congratulate BKPA on the commendable work being done by them to support and serve the Bengali population in the NJ - PA area over the last 15 years. The focus of the organization on four pillars of Education, Cultural, Literary and Charity is indeed admirable.

On this auspicious occasion, I convey my greeting to the organizers as well as to all members of Indian community and hope it brings in happiness, prosperity and peace in our lives.

Dear Mitali and Sahil,

Thank you for reaching out to me and sharing information about your organization. I enjoyed learning about The Bengali Kids of Princeton Area, and I am proud of its achievement over the past decade and a half. It is up to you and your members to carry on the torch of learning and promoting the Bengali culture and language.

Continue to stay focus on the objectives of BKPA and encourage others to join in. Your passion and dedication towards the four pillars of BKPA will truly make each one of you a strong global citizen. I look forward to learning more about BKPA's future activities and providing you guidance along the way.

Congratulations on your second year of Kali Puja. Due to a previous commitment, I will not be able to attend but look forward to meeting the BKPA community in the future.

Best Wishes,

Message from Co-Presidents:

Dear BKPA Families and Friends,

Welcome to our second year Kali Puja celebration!

With a little over 15 years serving the Bengali population in the NJ-PA Area, our organization, The Bengali Kids of Princeton Area (BKPA), is very proud to be publishing our second hard copy magazine for Kali Puja Celebration! BKPA was founded by kids for kids and intended to be a fun introduction to Bengali heritage and culture.

Bengali Heritage Class teaches us teamwork, leadership skills, public speaking, professionalism, and values that promote hard work, honesty, discipline, fairness, and respect.

Our teachers help us to prepare for college by holding resume workshops, practicing writing skills, identifying community work and Summer Internships for the high school years. BKPA gives its members the opportunity to have a never-ending learning experience.

As American Bengali Kids, our goals are to pursue higher education, establish ourselves as good citizens, give back to the local and global community, and learn about our Bengali Heritage while continuing the legacy of our rich Bengali culture.

We started Kali Puja last year and by popular demand, we have opened it up to the greater BKPA community. Friends and extended family members of BKPA have come from Tri-State area to be a part of this special day making it a Grand Celebration! Thank you!

Apart from celebrating Kali Puja, BKPA also celebrates Saraswati Pujo, Bengali Heritage Day (close to the Bengali New Year in April), and enjoys Summer Picnic, and Holiday Outing.

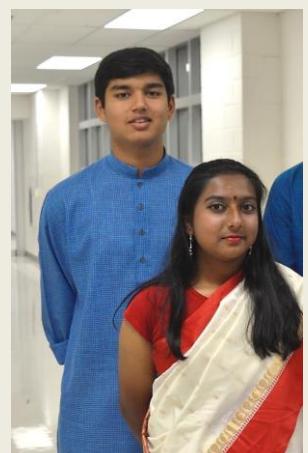

We would like to take this opportunity to extend a word of thanks to all our parents, grandparents and Kids' Committee Members for their continued support.

We hope you enjoy this magazine and our heartfelt thanks to our Sponsors for their generosity!

We feel proud and honored to be a part of this unique organization. It has been a great pleasure to serve as the Co-Presidents of 2017.

We wish everyone a very Happy Kali Puja and Diwali.

Hello Friends,

By: Mritsa Saha

I'm Mritsa. Today, I will tell you about my grandparents. I have four grandparents.

I call my paternal grandfather "Big dadu". He is eldest among my all grandparents. His hair is all white and my paternal grandmother is "Thammu". She has very long hair. They live at Khardah, India.

And I call my maternal grandfather "Tall dadu". He is very tall, 6 feet and 3 inches. Every morning "Tall dadu" sings Gayatri mantra and practices Pranayam(Yoga). He reads books all the time. My grandmother is "Rai". She tells me lots of story and taught me how to count in Bengali. They live at Ranaghat, India.

Last year Big Dadu, Thammu and Rai came to visit us. We were so happy and had lots of fun. We went to visit New York City, Niagara Falls and Washington D.C and Shenandoah national park. They bought so many gifts for me. When they went back in India, I was super-duper sad. Then they promised that they will visit us again.

I love all my grandparents and they love me too.

The Person I Most Admire in my Life

By: Ayan Das

The person I admire most in my life is my Mom. To the world she might seem like an ordinary person, but to my family and me, she is our hero.

While my dad is at work, my mom does everything she can to take care of us. She always takes us to music lessons, practices, and many other things. We do lots of fun things together. No matter how tired she is, she always cooks a meal for us. She plays with me when I am alone and also does all these silly dances to make me laugh when I am sad. My mom is always there for us, even though we can get very annoying sometimes. When my sister and I are fighting, she always helps us solve our problems. She does everything she can to make us happy. She is also the best story teller ever. Every night before I go to bed, my mom makes up the most interesting and adventurous stories in which my sister and I are heroic character's all the time.

I also admire her because she always puts us first. She makes sure we have everything we need before she even thinks about herself. She always says that my sister and I are the most important people in her life. My mom also teaches me to respect others and to be kind to everyone I meet. I love my mom very much and she is definitely one of the most admirable figures in my life.

The Most Memorable Days of My Life

By: Anisha Das

Last year I had a chance to go to Orlando Disneyworld and Universal Studio with my family during the Thanksgiving holidays. This trip was a dream come true for me as I have been looking forward to visit those places for a long time.

We arrived at Orlando airport in time and we got a rental car. We headed for a Villa that we booked for the first four days of our trip. The first day we relaxed in the hotel and at the pool. We knew the next few days would be fun but also stressful – so we had to get our rest.

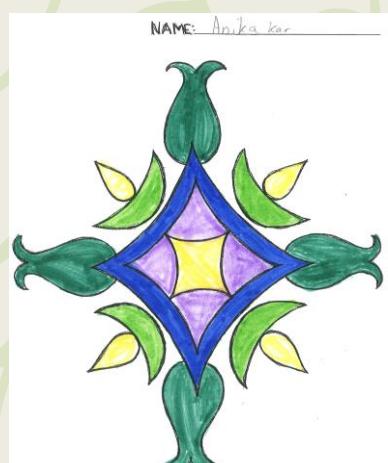

The next day the adventure started with Disney's Magic Kingdom. We had a fun time going all over the parks. The Cinderella Castle was fantastic. We saw the parade and got awed by the fire spitting dragon. I also got a chance to meet Mickey Mouse and take pictures with him. At the end of the night, we saw breathtaking fireworks. The environment all together was mesmerizing.

The next day we went to the Epcot Center. I was all excited because Epcot has many rides related to science and technology. We started with the Frozen ride and then completed the rest of the rides in the morning. The other part of the Epcot Center represents a replica of places around the world. We travelled around many “countries” around the lake and enjoyed food from all over the world.

Then came the Universal resort which is by far most gorgeous hotel I have ever been to. After the first three days we were very tired going from park to park and standing in line for the rides. We had Universal fast pass and early entry to the park so we could skip long lines.

Universal Orland has two theme parks side by side connected by Universal city walk. The main attraction of both the parks was the Harry Potter rides. This was very exciting for me being an avid Harry Potter fan. We took Hogwarts Express several times which travels between the parks. We also did the Harry Potter rides in both parks many times. Between the rides we managed to stroll in the Dragon Alley, getting our wizard wands and sitting down to drink Butter Beer. My brother was more excited about the Marvel comics section but I rode all the big roller coasters. But the best ride was undoubtedly King Kong and the Skull Island. I would never forget Kong throwing dinosaur's from one side of our car to the other side.

And this, in short are a few moments from one of most memorable days in my life. I hope you enjoyed reading this as I enjoyed being there.

I love my Parents, My Mom and dad. I have reasons why I love them. Read on to find out my reasons,

My Mom

My mom does a lot of special things and common things like how everyone does work. My mom makes food for the family, cleans the house, wakes me and my sister up for school! And for BHPA she's a Singing teacher! That's why I love my Mom.

My Dad

My Dad does a lot of special and common things to! My dad helps by working at his office to earn money for him and the family, he cares for us when we're sick and helps us with school assignments. My dad is also funny, responsible and a great dad! I love my dad and both of my parents!

my inspiration, my family.

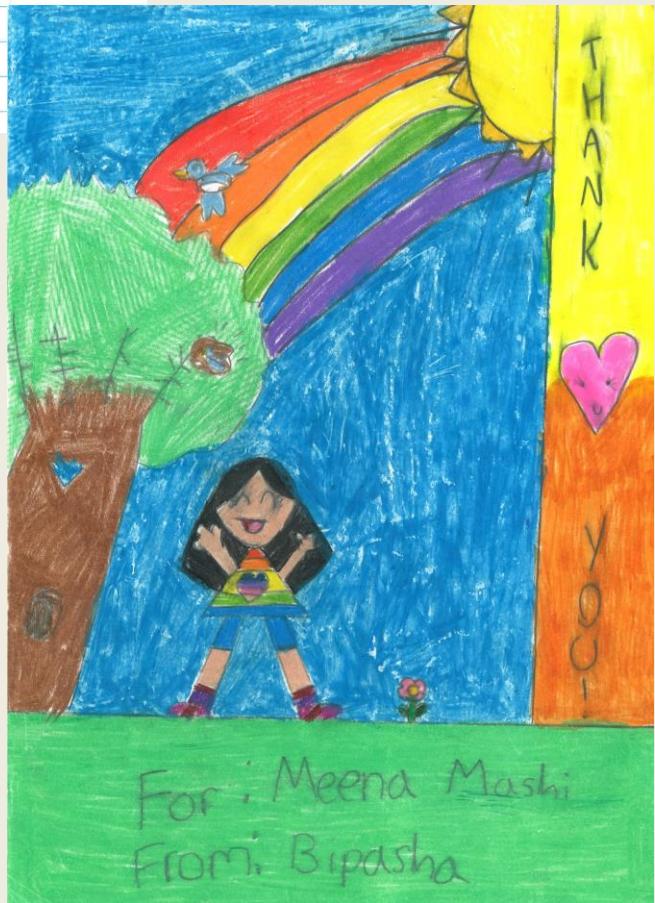

A family of four. Each with a special role. First, my dad. My dad always leads me to the choices that are right for me. He is very wise and is really funny too. Second, my mom. She also leads me to the path which will make me succeed. She makes me eat healthy as well as help me do well in school. Third, my crazy sister. She is really weird and pretty annoying, but she has also changed me as a person. She gives me her opinions on various things and joins me on my weirdness. I'm happy to be someone she can look up to and learn from my mistakes. My family as a whole is very unique. We all love teasing each other and correcting each others mistakes aside from fooling around.

Memorable Experience

By: Arush Sanbui

The short trip to New York during this summer was a happy experience for me and my family and it's memory is still green in my mind. It was filled with adventure, fun, love and so much more.

We drove to our hotel, Westin on 42nd Street in New York. Madame Tussauds museum was right opposite to our hotel. It was interesting to learn that Madame Tussauds was a French artist known for her wax sculptures. Being a soccer fan, I was delighted to see Messi's wax figure. It was so real.

We saw The Lion, The Witch and The Wardrobe -off Broadway at St. Luke's theatre. It's based on a novel by C.S. Lewis about four siblings visiting Narnia. Peter and Lucy took us to Narnia where the white witch has cast a spell. They did a good job of connecting with all of us in the audience through their storytelling. We all enjoyed it thoroughly.

Visiting Museum of Modern Art on Midtown Manhattan was an inspiring experience. Amongst many exhibits, work of architecture, painting, sculpture, photography, Claude Monet's Reflection of Clouds on the water lily pond left a favorable impression on my mind. It's peaceful and my favorite color blue.

Watching U.S open tennis match was like a dream come true. I watched three matches. Rafael Nadal went on to winning the Men's singles and Sloane Stephens won the women's singles.

In this trip, me and my brother got to buy a lot of souvenirs from all the places we visited. Staten Island ferry ride was another breathtaking experience. It's about 5 miles and takes half an hour. From the deck of the ferry you can have a perfect view of The Statue of Liberty and Ellis Island.

It's great to reminisce about good memories. This fun filled trip will definitely be one of them.

In Memory of My Dida

By: Soham Bhattacharya

September 28th, 2017. That was the day my grandmother from my mother's side passed away. My family and I were woken up by a phone call from relatives back in India. I quite vividly recall how my mother's world was shattered in that very instant. My father and I tried our best to comfort her through her grief.

I remember feeling quite numb emotionally myself when I learned about all of this. This was the first time in my life in which I was dealing with a death of a direct family member. Accepting the fact that my grandmother had passed away has turned out to be quite difficult for me. I find myself often reminiscing about the times I spent with her when my family and I visited her back in Bandel. From the delicious meals she would cook for us to all the stories she would tell me regarding her own life experiences, she always knew how to put a smile on my face. She truly was one of the most extraordinarily kind, compassionate, and caring people I have ever been with my entire life. I would go as far as to even consider her a "second mother" (after my own mom obviously). All of this has often made me mourn her death silently and even at times nearly lose interest from doing my college work and other activities to keep myself happy in life. However, whenever such instances nearly happen, I always remind myself that my grandmother would not want me to bash myself over her death to such a degree that it eventually hurts my life. And thus, with that mindset, my parents and I continue to go on with our lives. Obviously, there are quite a lot of rough patches that we are still working through regarding her passing. However, I am confident that we shall all eventually be able to move on from this tragedy in a positive manner and go back to living a happier family life, which is what my grandmother would want.

...the person who inspired me.

By: Sahil Banerjee

The person who inspired me in sports was my PE teacher and first basketball coach in Elementary School in California. He consistently motivated me to take interest in sports and said, "you can do it". He believed in me and suggested me to play basketball. It looks impossible to me at first but his continuous encouragements slowly inclined me towards the essence of sports. I still remember when he used to discuss about obstacles, failures, doubts, hard work, teamwork and determination and taught me everything. That unknowingly inspired me to be "simply myself".

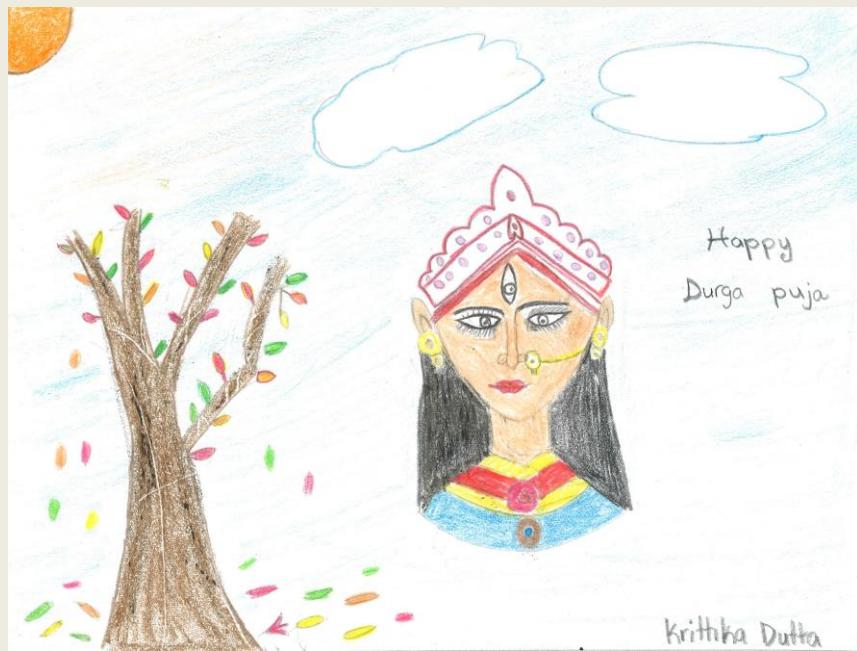

The journey continued.... he doesn't know that how his words and training changed my life and attitude towards the game. I dedicate my 'love to sports' to Mr. Michael Sordello, who was the mentor behind encouragement and my success. The small success story initiated in California led me to High School Basketball team in New Jersey.

I believe, "if your actions create a legacy that inspires others to dream more, learn more, do more and become more, then you are a leader". Leadership is not about making someone's life better with your presence but the impact should last in your absence. It applies to my teacher who is my role model till date.

" Our biggest festival"

Last week of September 2017 was my biggest festival of my native land which I celebrated with family and friends. in New Jersey. Its called Durga pujo, its "victory of good over the evil". Goddess Durga stands for power and strength and celebrated for ten days. We wear new cloths, visit temple last four days. We eat different types foods and sweets. Last day is called Bijoya dashmi, when we touch our elders feet and convey the message "Shubho Bijoya".

The Memorable Day of My Life

By: Shalin Banerjee

Travelling is fun and I love to go to new and beautiful places. My friends always share their travelling experiences to far places especially by cruise. I too had been to great places by air. I had a dream of travelling in a big ship to a beautiful island.

My dream came true and December 27, 2015 became a Memorable Day of my life. I was standing on a boarding embarkment in NY in front of a giant, colorful cruise ship, 'Norwegian Breakaway'. A seven-day memorable trip to Bahamas with family and friends. My cabin with balcony added charms to my joyful trip. This fun-filled trip was full of memories having so many restaurants, events, arcades, water sports, movies and many more...We also had a grand 'New Year' celebration on the ship deck while cruising.

The Magical Potion at Hershey

By: Arush Kundu

"We shall call the minister helping chief'replied one of the workers. One of the workers talked to a radio but it was off. He must have cut the line, and that's why we can't get help. "We are locked up!" cried one of the workers. "Why is he so deceitful". "We need some rope for climbing up and out of the basement." "Gather all the stuff nearby. Get hooks and ropes". "The only place we can get these things from is the basement," but it's up there in the rope." "I'll do it," replied Arush. Arush can climb hundred thousand feet high. The size rope was one hundred thousand feet high. Go on Arush, I depend on you.

He started to climb the rope, and in five minutes he climbed the whole rope. He saw a map which said how to get out if you're locked up. So he took a lot of maps with him. When he come back, he exclaimed, " I have brought a lot of maps!" "You know you need to get the key;" a worker reminded him. "Wait a minute the key is made out of rubber," the worker noticed. "That's why we needed, the map."

Three cheers for Arush! Hip, Hip, Hooray! "There's an exit but you have to find the magical potion," offered another worker, "But where it is, that's what we have to find out". Arush suggested a great idea, "Let's split the teams and the team A looks at the roof and the basement, while team B looks at the floor. If you find the magical potion, then shout to let someone know that you've found it. "It's here! It's Here!" Arush shouted with joy. He then thought to himself, put the bottle in your pocket because we are going to team B. Are you ready? Yes. Whoo hoo whoo hoo. Pour it to the chocolate "Yes sir". So he poured the magical potion into the chocolate. And a breeze filled the air and the exit opened. "Should we go there?" "Yes, that's our only exit," Arush explained. They found a ladder which helped them to climb down into the lower basement. There they found a bus. They boarded the bus and Arush had the idea to surround the guy who was making the chocolate sour. His watch told Arush that the man making the chocolate sour would be leaving at 12 midnight. And ... they raced away and surrounded the man and kept him there until the police came.

Definition of Inspiration

By: Sohan Pramanik

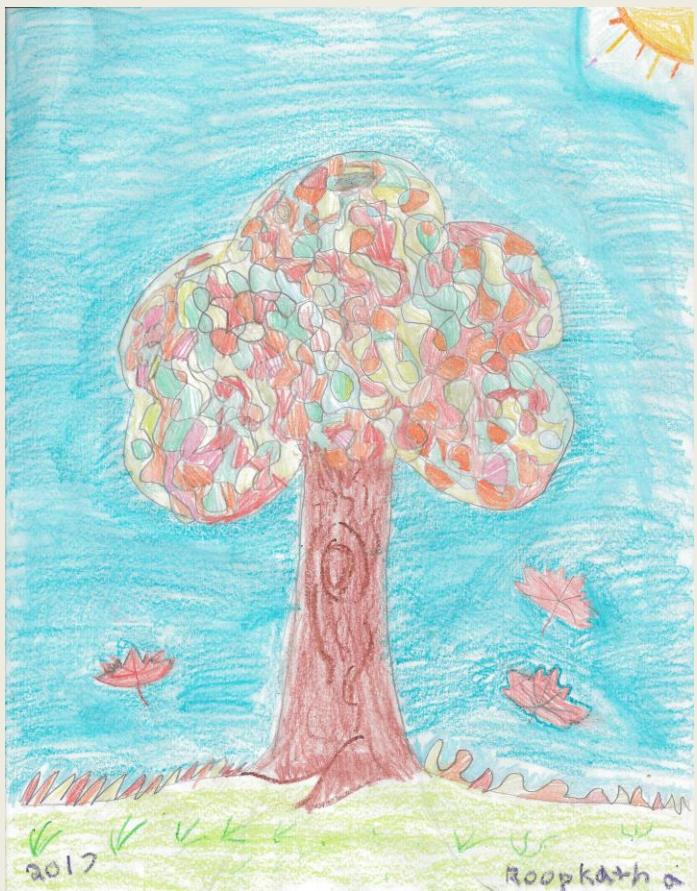

Inspiration. What is the meaning of this simple yet complex noun? Well when broken down, it splits into inspire and ‘tion. The word inspire, by definition, means to have a sudden urge to do something, and it might be creative. And ‘tion is a suffix used to form abstract nouns from verbs. This still doesn’t help to define the real meaning of the complex, sophisticated word; inspiration. This word can be used in many places depending which context it’s used in. Songs, quotes, a specific action, an object, and even people can be inspirational. All of these things can make someone “inspired” by encouraging or motivating them. Though inspire is the root word of inspiration, they both are still two very different words. Inspiration is a word that describes a process, a process where one receives the benefit from someone or something else, to become a better person. It is a kind of action where people learn and understand by a teacher, though the teacher could be anything or anyone. This is the broad way of looking at inspiration, the way that people can get a full understanding and feeling of what inspiration really means.

Now that there is a broad sense of inspiration, let's construct it to be more concise. When looking at inspiration, there can be many properties to make one inspired, and people are one of them. When looking at people who inspire others, they can be celebrities, or others who are famous. Though many people forget or unsure of the real people who are inspirational. They might be people who they see everyday, or even people who they don't know. But, they all connect together by making a change to the world. When characterizing in a deeper sense, people who are inspirational can fall onto two different categories. They can be inspirational by helping others and changing the world, or they can do something that would benefit themselves solely. It is hard to say that many people define inspiration as a category that would benefit themselves. We as a whole are forgetting about others who aren't famous but still do the right action for the well-being of others. These people will help the world be a better place, even though they don't get any recognition. One of the many examples of the real definition of inspiration is Anand Kumar.

Anand Kumar is a perfect example of inspiration because he spends his time teaching others and helping them to succeed. He is a professor of a school that he owns called Super 30: Ramanujan School of Mathematics . He accepts only 30 students from economically impoverished sections and hone their skills by providing a conducive environment. These students get free coaching, lodging, and food for preparation to get into the Indian Institute of Technology (IIT). Super 30 completed its 16 years on journey sending altogether 428 students to IIT since its inception from 2002, an impressive average of 90% success rate.

In 1994, Mr. Kumar got an opportunity to pursue higher education in Cambridge University, but his poor financial health came in the way. Having witnessed extreme financial hardship since childhood, he felt the sudden pain of poverty so much that he decided to do something for the poor students, which led to the birth of ‘Ramanujam School of Mathematics’. Mr. Kumar is a brilliant example and the real definition of inspiration because he helps others to thrive in life, and he doesn’t expect anything in return. He is changing the world without getting any remembrance. On the other hand, celebrities only care about themselves by showing off their fame and money.

Me and My MOM In 99 words

~ by निधि 9yrs

Me and my mom nurture and share a wonderful relation. We do this by spending a lot of time together, sharing everything in our daily lives. We watch television, shop, talk, play, share problems and viewpoint etc.

We care for each other. I help her with chores; dish washer, laundry, organizing, and making bed. She takes me to swim practice, dance class, BKPA. We also share stories every night.

My mom and I have a special bond. She encourages me, inspires me to try new things. To me my mom is my friend as well as MOM.

I Love Winter

By: Biswajoy Mazumdar

I love winter! Winter is cold.
It's Christmas with sleds.

It's warm snuggly beds. It's silver snowflakes. It's skating on lakes.

It's snowmen that stand. In a snowy, white land. It's blue jays that feed On sunflower seeds.

It's angels that pose. In wintertime clothes. It's a polka-dot sky.

It's winter. That's why

I love winter.

Memorable Day

By: Shreshtha Halder

My 10th birthday was the best birthday of my life! My party was super fun we played, we ate and we laughed It's a day I will never forget something I will never forget.

Before moving to America I used to live in India, and when I did move to America, I was little lonely but then as soon school started I made lots friends. Some were from my school and some from my neighborhood. I played with them all year it was lot fun then my birthday rolled around on April 15th. I told my parents I wanted to have my birthday at bounceU and they agreed. I invited all of my friends to my party and I thought it was going to be a lot of fun!

When finally my birthday rolled around I was super excited! When all my friends had come we started, first we went to one room with bouncy obstacle courses so we all raced each other and it was a lot of fun, next we went to another room with more bounce houses but they weren't obstacle courses they were just normal bouncy houses it was a lot of fun. After the bounce time, it was cake cutting time. We cut the cake it was a ice cream cake it was super yummy, next we ate the pizza it super yummy too. Finally, all my friends parents came to pick up my friends and then my party ended happily and peacefully

I always dreamt of having a grand celebration of my double digit birthday and it happened just like that, so my 10th birthday would remain as the most memorable day of my life.
